WELCOME!

PRIDE HOUSE
GLASGOW 2018

LEAP Sports Scotland are proud to be bringing you Pride House Glasgow to coincide with the 2018 European Championships in Glasgow. We are delighted to invite the international LGBTIQ+ community, allies and supporters to engage with this community space, to pop in and grab a coffee and watch the Championships, and to participate in the wide and exciting variety of events contained in this programme.

Pride House is a welcoming place to view the sport, to enjoy the event, to learn about LGBTI sport and homophobia and transphobia in sport, as well as to build relations with mainstream sport. At our central location on Trongate in Merchant City, Pride House will offer a programme of inclusive sport, cultural, community, academic and social events. As well as the range of events listed in here, additional events will appear on our website as the Championships progress.

LEAP Sports works as part of Pride House International, the guiding body intended to support and oversee the delivery of Pride Houses by organisations in their local contexts during large-scale international sporting events. A Pride House is intended to promote the cause of equality in and by sport. From the first Pride House in Whistler, Canada during the 2010 Winter Olympics through to the most recent on Gold Coast, Australia during the 2018 Commonwealth Games, Pride Houses have become a familiar and endearing feature of major events.

We hope that the space will provide an opportunity for new friendships to form, best practice to be shared and to give the LGBTIQ+ community a visible presence and voice during this international sporting event. Scotland is internationally renowned and respected for its hospitality, friendliness and embrace of our international friends. Come and be our guest.

EXHIBITIONS

Pride House will host a wide variety of exhibitions and features.

A short summary of the various works on display is contained here but please check our website for much more detailed information.

RAINBOW INDEX

A special exhibition version of the ILGA-Europe Rainbow Index will visually show how the European Championships participating countries perform in relation to rights, equality and legal protections of LGBTI people. This is an important benchmarking in a context of increasing backlash on human rights across Europe and helps us to see the rights which have been won which are at stake, as well as showing where we still have so much work to do.

PRIDE IN FOCUS

Pink Saltire have produced a heritage exhibition showing the most detailed historical timeline ever compiled which documents Scotland's LGBT journey over the centuries. The Heritage Lottery Funded exhibition will spend 2018 touring Pride events around the country and we are excited to have it in Pride House until the 10th August.

OUT IN THE OLYMPICS

A bespoke floor exhibition will show the names of athletes who have competed in the Olympics since the early 1900's who have LGBTQ identities, allowing visitors to walk through the history of participation. The information forming this exhibition has come from the work of historian Tony Scupham-Bilton.

GGLC

The original version of the poem which Glasgow's first poet laureate and the first ever Scots Makar Edwin Morgan wrote and donated to the Dixon Street LGBT Centre will be on display in Pride House. The poem was donated for the benefit of Glasgow's LGBT community and is currently held in trust at LGBT Youth Scotland. With a current discussion about the future of a new LGBT centre in Glasgow, we have created some space next to the poem for you to leave your comments and ideas.

PRIDE HOUSE LEGACY QUILT

Celebrating LGBTI identities across Scotland is part of our rich cultural heritage. To coincide with the European Year of Cultural Heritage and Scotland's Year of Young People, we have asked young people from every local authority in Scotland to contribute a piece towards our legacy quilt. Our progress so far will be displayed in Pride House.

ARTISTS IN RESIDENCE

HARVEY DIMOND

Working with photography, sculpture and writing, Harvey is working towards establishing an identity that is defined by self-love and empowerment, rather than negative experiences of othering. It is informed by personal experience, but also an interest in queer activism, Caribbean identities and the histories of people of colour in Scotland. Spilling over into activism and programming, is it marked by periods of exhaustion, frustration and refusal, owing to the constraints and pressures forced on to queer people of colour working within the creative industries.

LUKE SIMUMBA

Luke Simumba is a visual artist, based in Glasgow, and is currently studying Painting and Printmaking at the Glasgow School of Art. Through oil painting, photography and digital image making; Simumba approaches concepts such as: race, ethnicity, sexuality, gender, their overlapping intersections and how they have evolved within societal history up until present day. Working with both own photographs and found images, Simumba's subject matter remains a consistent archive of queer people and people of colour. His work develops the aesthetic of deliberately produced glamorisation with the use of an evocative colour palette and hyper-realisation of subject matter.

FEATURED ARTIST

TIU MAKKONEN

FAST ENOUGH

A brand new commission for LEAP Sports Scotland, Fast Enough is a series of portraits raising local LGBTI+ community members engaged in various sports to the forefront. The freedom of diving into water, of hitting a running trail, of pushing forward shoulder to shoulder with a teammate - the quickening of breath and the rush of adrenaline, accomplishment, completion - these things are not defined by sexuality or gender. These images are of breaking down social and personal barriers, reclaiming and re-queering spaces such as pools, gyms and locker rooms, and underlining that even by stepping out of the front door, we have already won.

LETTERS TO OURSELVES

Letters to Ourselves is an intergenerational conversation centring the stories of LGBTI+ folk in Scotland over the age of 50. From Shetland to the Borders and across the Central Belt, the photographs give a face and place to the oft ignored older, original members of our community. The portraits, created either in the participants' own homes or immediate local area, ground the work firmly in Scotland. Accompanying the photos are handwritten letters, which incite a dialogue between the past, present and future, simultaneously highly personal yet universal; there is still a lot to learn from each other if we just take the time to listen.

Letters to Ourselves was commissioned by LGBT History Month Scotland, with funding from Creative Scotland.

ABOUT TIU

Tiu Makkonen (b. 1989) is a queer, immigrant artist and photographer based in Edinburgh. For the past five years, her work has concentrated on documenting the LGBTI+ scene in Scotland, from fine art portrait projects addressing visibility and empowerment to shooting underground queer raves, LGBT festivals and national gender equality campaigns. The ethos underpinning all of her work is a desire to bolster the community from within, by ways of a two-way mirror: to have us be seen, but also to really see ourselves, full of fierce love and radical vulnerability.

SIGN UP!

All of the events in this programme and more can be found on our website www.pridehouseglasgow.co.uk. You will be able to sign up for the event from the website, and those events which have different sign up arrangements, are listed next to the event. All events are open for sign-up from 1st July onwards, and during Pride House opening hours, our Team will be happy to sign you up and arrange tickets for you directly.

RAINBOW RICKSHAWS

We are excited to have special Pride House Rainbow Rickshaws to transport you to and from Pride House to Championships venues around Glasgow. Look out for the rainbows around the streets of Glasgow.

SOCIAL MEDIA

We will be mainly using LEAP Sports social media platforms throughout Pride House so be sure to use our key hashtags #PrideHouseGlasgow and #DiverseSport to keep in touch. We have a daily Top Tweet from visitors to Pride House, as well as regular prizes for the best Pride House Selfies. Follow us for up to date news and additions to the programme @LEAPsports.

FOOTBALL V HOMOPHOBIA AT GLASGOW GREEN

As part of GO LIVE! At Glasgow Green, we will be running an inflatable Human Table Football event. Come down and learn more about Football v Homophobia and have a go - no skills required. In a partnership with Media Co-op, there will be some young people trained up as mobile journalists based at the space and reporting on the event.

MERCHANDISE

Some limited edition Pride House Merchandise will be available to purchase whilst the venue is open. From the 'must-have' pin badges to our legendary travel mugs.

SCENE RADIO

We are delighted to have the Scene Radio team based in Pride House for the duration of the Championships. They'll be on the look-out for comments and interviews, and are always happy to talk to any budding DJs.

120 BPM

SATURDAY 11TH AUGUST / 5-7.30PM / PRIDE HOUSE

Pulsating with life and pounding with urgency, this rousing, heart-breaking celebration of political activism is nothing short of a modern queer classic. Drawing directly on personal experience, Robin Campillo's extraordinary account of AIDS activist group ACT UP-Paris in the 1990s begins in the thick of it – at a group meeting. But far more than a cerebral account of political action, this is a deeply emotional and bracingly sensual film, which ignites the heart and body just as much as it incites the mind.

PARTNERS

Pride House takes the collective effort of many partners and this is only a selection of partners. Please see our website for a full list of partners.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This project is made possible by direct funding from the Equality Unit and the Tourism and Major Events division at Scottish Government. The venue space was provided in-kind and with a newly installed accessible toilet by Glasgow City Council and City Property. There are many organisations and supporters to thank who have contributed towards getting the venue ready and making the programme possible. Many of these are mentioned in here, but as many are still developing at the time of writing then the full list of contributors can be seen on our website.

ACCESSIBILITY

We would like to thank Glasgow Disability Alliance and their team of activists who visited the shortlisted venues to conduct accessibility audits and ultimately helped us to decide which venue to choose. As a result of implementing their recommendations, the venue is accessible for people with disabilities and wheelchair users. There is also a downstairs space in the venue which is not so accessible. Our approach is to limit the number of events that take place downstairs, but there will be a few events down there due to the number of events and partners competing for space. We will remain flexible to move events around as necessary to ensure accessibility.

Most events on the programme are free and the few events which have a cost attached have a flexible pay-what-you-can policy to allow those to attend who could not otherwise attend. Please email us or ask to speak to someone at Pride House if you want to discuss this.

Anything we screen will be screened with English subtitles. The live sport which is streamed will only be as good as the subtitle package on the system we have and there may therefore be a few anomalies in this. We have a comedy event (8th August) which will be BSL interpreted. We are still making attempts to have further events BSL signed and will keep the website, Eventbrite and Facebook events up to date with this information. We have limited resource for BSL interpretation so please get in touch in advance to let us know if there are particular events which you would like to attend to allow us to target this resource in the most effective way.

Pride House is child-friendly and as well as specific events, there will be books and toys available to keep children entertained. If these happen to be tidied away during your visit as there have been certain events taking place, please just ask us for them.

Guide dogs and well behaved other dogs are welcome at Pride House, and there will be designated pet areas. Please just ask staff for water bowls.

JOIN US

Pride House is not possible without the hard work of our dedicated team of volunteers. If you've been inspired by their efforts, then please consider becoming a LEAP Sports volunteers and helping out with our year-round programme of work.
